

BOW VALLEY RESOURCE

Including Arrowwood, Milo, Queenstown, Shoultice and Mossleigh

Volume 3, No. 26

ARROWWOOD, ALTA., FEBRUARY 15, 1934

Subscription $2.00, U.S.A. $2.50

Will Take Care Of Your Radio Problems

Did you know that there are in your community, two young men who are fully capable of handling any of your radio problems? They have the necessary fundamental knowledge and training, and have kept up with the very rapid advances of radio.

Russell Burries is a graduate of the Provincial Institute of Technology and Art, in Industrial Electricity; a graduate of the National Radio Institute of Washington, D. C., specializing in Radio Servicing. He is a Certified Radio-Technician, endorsed by N. B. I.

Joe Dumka is a graduate of the Provincial Institute of Technology and Art, in Industrial Electricity; a member of the Student Body of the Radio and Television Institute, specializing in Radio Servicing.

An outstanding achievement of theirs is the designing and building of a 26 Watt public address amplifier, capable of handling ten loudspeakers at full volume, for the head Serviseman of Electrical Engineers.

These young men are trained and prepared to do their work thoroughly.

Church of the Brethren Notes

At the Sunday morning service the Leadership Training Certificates of Credit. Earned during the District Bible School will be granted to those who satisfactorily completed the courses. Thirty-four credits were earned by members of the local congregation.

There was a large attendance at the church of the Brethren on Sunday evening. Quite a number of children were present. They sang a hymn by themselves. Also several choruses. Mrs. Wionoff told them a story about a boy who worked in a bank. Special attention will be given to the children each Sunday evening.

The pastor would like for each boy and girl to give a verse next Sunday evening. Then there will be a story or object lesson, also a sermon by the Pastor.

Sunday School and Sermon Sunday morning.

The young people and two adult Sunday School classes will have a joint social in the church basement Friday evening.

The young people of the Church of the Brethren are presenting a play, "A Wild Flower of the Hills," at the school on March 2nd.

Buffalo Hill News

The auction sale of stock, etc. held at Jack Goldthorpe's last Wednesday, Feb. 7th, was quite a success. The horses brought from $10.00 to $52.00 and the cattle from $16.00 to $23.00. The exceptionally fine summer like day was responsible for a large attendance which helped out, also the ample lunch provided. An outerring feature of the sale was an unbroken saddle horse, put up by George Irving, which seemed to have an unlimited amount of surplus energy. The crowd asked George to ride the horse and he said he would when it was sold. The horse went for $16 and, keeping his promise, George rode him in good style, much to the pleasure of the onlookers. George sure had the goods on Balty.

The sale of stock and implements of Mr. W. F. Jenejohn will be held on Wednesday, February 28th. Bills will be out shortly.

The card party held at the home of Mrs. Joe Bell last Saturday was a success. Seven tables of court whist were in play. Ladies first was won by Mrs. Nevra. Mrs. Cockwill winning second after tying with Hazel Adair. Hugh Budson won gentlemen's first.

The Social Club are holding another card party next Saturday Feb. 17, at the home of Mrs. Adair. Everybody welcome.

The annual meeting of the ratepayers of the Municipality will be held at Milo on Saturday, February 17th, at 1 p.m.

P.T.A. Notes

The regular meeting of the P.T.A. was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gaylen Jones on Monday evening, with the President, Mr. E. Lewendon, in the chair.

After all business transactions were dealt with, a very dainty lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. R. E. Hales.

Another of those enjoyable turkey dinners was served Sunday, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Ellis, when the following guests were present to enjoy this delicious meal: Messrs. Chris. McIrvine, W. R. Fonger, Stanley White, Roy Voutier, Bill McCollman, Norman Oliver, and Clarence Urquhart.

U.F.W.A. Meets at the Home of Mrs. Jack Beagle

The Arrowwood U.F.W.A. met at the home of Mrs. Jack Beagle on Wednesday afternoon of last week, with ten members and six visitors present.

Interesting reports were given by Mrs. J. M. Weins as convener of education; Mrs. G. Forest Kemper, convener of legislation; Mrs. R. E. McBride, provincial convener of Junior U.F.W.A., gave a splendid paper on Junior work.

A vote of thanks was tendered Mrs. Ellis for the pillow made by her and raffled for the Local.

A contest, arranged by Mrs. Ward, was much enjoyed by all. The prize was awarded to Mrs. Jacques and Mrs. J. F. Williams.

The U.F.W.A. decided to entertain their husbands at their annual party. The entertainment will take the form of a calico party and will be held on Tuesday evening, February 27. All ladies are to wear print dresses and men to appear in shirt sleeves with tie neckties. Arrangement committee was appointed as follows:

Convener, Mrs. Lewendon; Mrs. J. M. Weins, Mrs. E. E. Jacques and Mrs. Kemper. Entertainment committee, Mrs. R. Morash and Mrs. R. F. Williams. Mrs. John Culp and Mrs. Russell Culp assisted the hostess in serving tea.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. M. C. Norton.

Several from Arrowwood and district attended a bridge party on Wednesday last at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. McBride in Shoultice. Ladies' first prize was won by Mrs. J. Heaketh, gentlemen's first Mr. Don Yuell, consolation Mrs. McBride and Mr. D. House.

The next meeting of the U.F.W.A. will be held at Mrs. M. C. Norton's on Feb. 21. A demonstration of French Pastry will be given as well as other interesting items on the program. Everybody welcome.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Mackie and family of Carleton, spent Sunday at the home of Mrs. Mackie's parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Beagle. Miss Edna Beagle accompanied them home for a few days' visit. On Tuesday they all motored into Calgary and spent the day there.

The Field Crops Branch of the Dept. of Agriculture, Edmonton, has arranged to have a Fieldmen address a public meeting in the Inghram Bldg at 2:30 p.m. on Tuesday, Feb. 20th. The primary object of the meeting is to arrange the shipment of registered seed wheat in exchange for commercial wheat. A number of local farmers have already shown an interest in this and all are invited. The speaker will also give a talk on grass hopper control and will be ready to discuss any field problem.

TRAIN SCHEDULE AT GLEICHEN

No. 1 Westbound	8:25 p.m.
No. 3 Westbound	8:45 a.m.
No. 2 Eastbound	5:31 a.m.
No. 4 Eastbound	7:05 p.m.

Arrowwood
West bound, Tues., Thurs., 1 p.m.
East bound, Wed., Fri., 1:30 p.m.

Woman's Association Meets at the Home of Mrs. Roy Dahl

The Woman's Association of the United Church met in their regular monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. R. Dahl, on Thursday, Feb. 8th. Mrs. J. Mackie was elected President, Mrs. D. R. M. Shoultice Vice-President and Mrs. R. N. Moir Secretary-Treasurer. Mrs. Liesemer, Mrs. G. Jones and Mrs. Laitin were appointed Advisory members.

A pre-Easter sale is planned for March 31st. There will be an apron booth and a home cooking booth. Tea will be served.

The play committee reported progress, indicated that the play will be some time the last of March.

Mrs. D. R. M. Shoultice assisted the hostess in serving delicious refreshments.

"Crooks for a Month"

A comedy in three acts, by George F. Mountford, will be presented by members of the Arrowwood High School Literary Society, in the school auditorium, on Friday, February 23rd.

Following is a synopsis of the play:

Winfield Bentwood, finding himself broke and the parental purse closed against him, takes counsel with two impecunious college chums. Jack, the mastermind of the trio, points the way to easy money—fortune telling. Why toil for a pittance, he asks, when for one third of the labor you may earn three times as much, gouging a credulous citizenry that likes to be couched? So they open up the "Temple of the Occult," presided over by the famous Hindu mystic, the great Ramjah (Jack) and here they spend their leisure hours in Hindu disguise, housing the public magnificently and raking in the shekels. All goes well until their respective ladyloves visit the "temple" to have their fortunes told. Then a ludicrous blunder of Winfield betrays the identity of the fraudulent trio, and the girls are furore. On top of this calamity, Winfield's father raids the place, searching for his daughter, and promptly falls victim to the wiles of the great Ramjah, who gives him some shrewd advice about his business. Later, this good turn is instrumental in saving the trio from unpleasant complications, when the police raid the "temple" in earnest. A merry, fast-moving comedy of irrepressible youth, full of pep and laughter.

Cleaners Meet

On Saturday evening, Feb. 11th, the Arrowwood Cleaners (Jr. U.F.A.), met at the home of Mrs. C. G. Taylor, a Madiera luncheon cloth and six serviettes will be raffled. Tickets may be obtained from any member of the Junior U.F.A.; price 3 for 25c or 10c each.

Mr. Sharpe gave a very interesting talk on the stars. The meeting was brought to a close in the usual manner.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. H. Brown on Saturday evening, Feb. 24.

The W.A. of the Arrowwood United Church will hold a sale of Cooked Foods and Aprons in the Inghram Bldg. on March 31st, at 3 p.m.

Arrowwood Notes

Mr. A. L. Ingraham spent the week-end in Calgary.

Miss E. Andrews was a visitor in Calgary on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Anderson entertained at three tables of bridge on Sunday night.

O. S. Odland, traveller for the British American Oil Co. Ltd., was in Arrowwood on Wednesday.

Master Laurie Mackie returned to his home, near Carleton, on Sunday, after visiting for ten days with relatives in Arrowwood.

"Crooks for a Month" will be staged in the Arrowwood School on Feb. 23rd, by members of the High School Literary Society.

Don't forget the dance in the Queenstown Community Hall on February 16th. This is where the $350.00 xylophone will be given away.

Mrs. Jane Beagle returned Wednesday night after a three weeks' visit at the home of her brother, Mr. Frank Harshey, near Lethbridge.

Mrs. Wayne Cochrane returned recently from a month's visit with relatives in various points in Iowa and North Dakota.

The many friends of Mrs. D. Richards will be pleased to learn that she is able to be home again after her recent operation, at the Holy Cross Hospital, Calgary.

An illustrated address will be given by Donald Cameron in Arrowwood on March 3rd, under the auspices of the U.F.A. and U.F.W.A. Watch for further particulars next week.

STRAYED from my farm, 3 miles west and 14 miles north of Mossleigh, on Fri. Feb. 9, seven horses and two colts, some are branded 77 on left hip. Finder please notify Mrs. Segal, Mossleigh, or Fred Holoboff.

Marcellous Bollinger, of Gleichen, accompanied by his son and a brother, were business visitors in Arrowwood Monday. Mr. Bollinger is one of the pioneers of the Gleichen district.

Bow Valley Radio Service

Radio Sales & Service

Is your radio giving you the enjoyment it did when new? If not, have you had the tubes tested during this season? Is your radio properly installed and adjusted?

We will adjust your radio so that it will perform as it was desired by the manufacturer. We have the most modern equipment and use modern methods of testing.

A good aerial and ground is essential in order for a good radio to give you the performance it should.

SEE US FIRST; WE CAN HELP YOU

Aerials Erected Tubes tested free. Sets made to order. Motors and Generators Rewound. Electrical Apparatus installed and repaired.

Our Prices Are Reasonable. All Work Guaranteed.

W. R. Burris, C.R.T.

Box 49 Graduate of Tech. and N.E.I.

J. A. Dumka

Box 26 Graduate of Tech. Member of R.T.I. Student Branch

ARROWWOOD THEATRE

Thursday, February 15 "UPTOWN NEW YORK"

With

JACK OAKIE, SHIRLEY GREY & LEON WAYCOFF

A human story of a girl who was—just human

The Usual Comedy

8:30 p.m. Adults and High School Students 25c, Children 15c

LESS THAN
IT'S WORTH IN A CAKE

MAGIC

JUST THINK—it takes less than 1¢ worth of Magic Baking Powder to make a delicious three-layer cake! And Magic is always dependable—gives the same perfect results—every time. No wonder Canada's leading cookery experts say it doesn't pay to take chances with inferior baking powder. Bake with Magic and be sure!

"CONTAINS NO ALUM." This statement on every tin is your guarantee that Magic Baking Powder is free from any harmful ingredients.

MADE IN CANADA

OCCASIONAL WIFE

BY EDNA ROBB WEBSTER

Author of "Joretta," "Lipstick Girl" Etc.

SYNOPSIS

Camilla Hoyt and Peter Anson, young and in love, marry secretly. Decided to live their own lives apart until Peter is able to provide for her. Peter is a young, struggling sculptor. He wants to win a commission for a scholarship abroad and Camilla is the daughter of a contractor. She is not to inherit money when she comes of age and so is sharing her father's money. She is not to land an agency job. Others in the story are Avis Werth, another wealthy girl who is in love with Peter, Sylvia Todd, Peter's model, and Gus Matson, his former roommate with whom he has quarreled. At a party at an exclusive club Peter entertains Camilla's guests with impersonations. When the rest of the members of the party go to a cabaret to continue the party, Peter and Camilla slip off to the beach by themselves and have a wedding. When they awake it is early morning and Avis and another boy are standing near them. This makes it necessary for Camilla to announce before the party that she and Peter are married. Avis is stunned and Camilla's mother likewise. Camilla decides that she must have the home of her adopted parents immediately and go to live with them. Her father, who is a clerk in a business house. They decide to take an apartment. Bowman and Weeks, an advertising agency, where Camilla has been working, find her and tell her they have a new account which requires unusual talent. To Camilla's surprise she learns that the account is that of her father's father's company, which has decided on an extensive campaign to bolster up lagging business.

(Now Go On With The Story)

CHAPTER XXIX

Camilla's first thought was to rush to Peter with the news. Then she remembered one assailed her—what if she failed? Could she really tell him she was riding the crest of the wave of excitement now—or was she riding in the clouds again, she wondered giddily, as she gazed at her car by instinct and felt through the lanes of traffic. It behaved her to come to earth, forget her own reactions and breathless hopes and consider seriously the problem before her.

PATENTS

A List Of "Patented Inventions" and Information Sent Free Upon Request
The RAMSAY Co. CHAS. STANBACH, GEN.
167 OTTAWA, ONT.

HEE HEE CIGARETTE HOLDER

DEMICOFFA Cigarette Holder absorbs the nicotine, gradins, ammonia and noxious and tart substances found in tobacco smoke.
Complete holder with refill—$1.00 postpaid, or from your Drugist or Tobacconist. Dealers wanted everywhere.

NOW OBTAINABLE FROM

Robt. Simpson Co. Limited
The E. E. Eaton Co. Ltd.
Zigzaggy Drug Store
Meador's Cigar Store
G. B. Whalley
Rutherford Drug Store
Reese Merchants

READERS SERVICE
CHAMBER & CHANTLER, LIMITED
By Canadian Mail Order
40 Wellington St. W.
TORONTO, ONT.

W. N. O. 2032

"Yes!" she called impatiently.
"Will you answer the telephone, Miss Camilla?"
"Who is it?"
"Mr. Anson calling. I thought you might—"

"Why, of course, I didn't include Peter when I said I wasn't at home to anyone," she laughed.
"I thought you didn't," Bates grinned slyly. He never missed in anyone's presence save Camilla's.
"Hello, Loveline," Peter's sunny voice greeted her. "What are you doing?"

"I can't ask me, darling, because I can't tell you now, please."
"Is that so? Why not, I'd like to know?"

"It's a surprise—a nice one. And if you ask me another question, I shan't be able to keep the secret. Peter, What are you doing?"

"Well, that's a surprise, too," he bawled, "but I just finished it and now I want to see you. It has been three days—or didn't you know?"

"I thought it was three weeks, but I may be wrong. But darling, I can't see you now."

"Soon, then," he insisted. "Meet me at Charm Cottage for dinner at six. I want to look at something beautiful and talk to something sweet."

"Oh, Peter, I'm so sorry, but I can't," he terribly hurt and can't be disturbed at all tonight. Her heart yearned to say "yes" and meet him eagerly and share that sweet pleasure of dining with him at Charm Cottage—where they had shared their wedding dinner. Here, already, was where her career stepped in and demanded first consideration. "When—then?" she explained to him, it would help. No—she had to take a chance that Peter would understand. Perhaps, after all, a test of his faith, but her doubt reproached her.

"Buy—at what?" he inquired with dismay.
"When—then?" she asked.
"Did you get a position?" he quickly.

"No—not yet." It was so difficult not to tell him about it.
"Well, then—tomorrow and all the other tomorrows for your work."

"No, Peter, I can't see you, tonight. My faith," he asked, after a moment of silence, and his voice sounded desolate.

She clung to her resolution and thought rapidly—what if something did settle be decided tomorrow, the date could have dinner with him and tell him the wonderful news. Probably, however, he would not decide even for days after she submitted her drawings. Even so, it would be wonderful to see Peter, and she would have to try to keep her secret from him.

"Make it tomorrow," she said. "And I'm awfully sorry about tonight, dear."

"May I stop in for a few minutes, then, later?" anxiously. "You're not ill?"

"Oh, no, dear. And please don't stop in. I do want to see you awfully, but I can't."

"Okay, then. Tomorrow at six. Goodbye, Peter."

"Bye, Loveline."

She did not leave the telephone reluctantly, not musing forlornly for a moment, then rose quickly and returned to her room. "If you're a good sport, you'll play this game by the rules you laid out when you invented it. Your and Peter's careers come first—marriage second, for awhile. Peter has been splendid about it all. Now, don't you give in at the first test." She gave herself a little shake of impatience and returned to her drawing board to lose herself again in the make-believe world which her imagination had created for her this day.

She had dinner, also, alone in her room. For one thing, she did not wish to face those stern, probing eyes of her foster father, yet, with this new secret in her heart, she had been different about the secret she had shared with Peter. That was her own secret. This matter concerned her better vitality, and she feared for the effect of his influence upon her work, if she saw him now. Besides, she wished to remain alone until her plan had been worked out. So she had a light dinner alone, practiced a series of calisthenics to relieve her taut muscles and resumed work.

She was amazed when the pert little clock on her desk chimed a musical midnight, and increased her work. The work had to be finished before morning. Inside the house and out, the stillness grew heavier, like the darkness. Muffled traffic sounds from the street were diminished until there was only an occasional brief wail-r-r-r of a passing automobile. A truck rumbled past. Only the little clock kept insisting that the night was passing and trying to remind her every quarter hour how late it was. Three o'clock, Camilla tottered on, steadily.

After a long interval of intense silence she was startled suddenly by the sound of a stopped motor and the soft thudding of quick footsteps in the driveway. Her heart seemed to stop beating. Her cold feet gripped her. In an instant "Thump" in the rear of the house. She relaxed, laughing slightly to herself. The milkman, of course. It was the silence and weariness and her long concentration that had caused her to be frightened so foolishly.

At four o'clock, she looked up in surprise to discover that the dawn roses were pale grey squares of light. A rose light crept into the room, and presently it was dawn. At six o'clock, she stopped work and slipped on her slippers. She had not slept for two hours and awoke at the regular time for breakfast.

PROTECT YOUR CHILD

If the children gained health and strength through the summer

SCOTT'S EMULSION will help them keep well through the winter.

10-33

herself again in the make-believe world which her imagination had created for her this day.

She had dinner, also, alone in her room. For one thing, she did not wish to face those stern, probing eyes of her foster father, yet, with this new secret in her heart, she had been different about the secret she had shared with Peter. That was her own secret. This matter concerned her better vitality, and she feared for the effect of his influence upon her work, if she saw him now. Besides, she wished to remain alone until her plan had been worked out. So she had a light dinner alone, practiced a series of calisthenics to relieve her taut muscles and resumed work.

She was amazed when the pert little clock on her desk chimed a musical midnight, and increased her work. The work had to be finished before morning. Inside the house and out, the stillness grew heavier, like the darkness. Muffled traffic sounds from the street were diminished until there was only an occasional brief wail-r-r-r of a passing automobile. A truck rumbled past. Only the little clock kept insisting that the night was passing and trying to remind her every quarter hour how late it was. Three o'clock, Camilla tottered on, steadily.

After a long interval of intense silence she was startled suddenly by the sound of a stopped motor and the soft thudding of quick footsteps in the driveway. Her heart seemed to stop beating. Her cold feet gripped her. In an instant "Thump" in the rear of the house. She relaxed, laughing slightly to herself. The milkman, of course. It was the silence and weariness and her long concentration that had caused her to be frightened so foolishly.

At four o'clock, she looked up in surprise to discover that the dawn roses were pale grey squares of light. A rose light crept into the room, and presently it was dawn. At six o'clock, she stopped work and slipped on her slippers. She had not slept for two hours and awoke at the regular time for breakfast.

SCOTT'S EMULSION will help them keep well through the winter.

10-33

SCOTT'S EMULSION RICH IN VITAMINS

herself again in the make-believe world which her imagination had created for her this day.

She had dinner, also, alone in her room. For one thing, she did not wish to face those stern, probing eyes of her foster father, yet, with this new secret in her heart, she had been different about the secret she had shared with Peter. That was her own secret. This matter concerned her better vitality, and she feared for the effect of his influence upon her work, if she saw him now. Besides, she wished to remain alone until her plan had been worked out. So she had a light dinner alone, practiced a series of calisthenics to relieve her taut muscles and resumed work.

She was amazed when the pert little clock on her desk chimed a musical midnight, and increased her work. The work had to be finished before morning. Inside the house and out, the stillness grew heavier, like the darkness. Muffled traffic sounds from the street were diminished until there was only an occasional brief wail-r-r-r of a passing automobile. A truck rumbled past. Only the little clock kept insisting that the night was passing and trying to remind her every quarter hour how late it was. Three o'clock, Camilla tottered on, steadily.

After a long interval of intense silence she was startled suddenly by the sound of a stopped motor and the soft thudding of quick footsteps in the driveway. Her heart seemed to stop beating. Her cold feet gripped her. In an instant "Thump" in the rear of the house. She relaxed, laughing slightly to herself. The milkman, of course. It was the silence and weariness and her long concentration that had caused her to be frightened so foolishly.

At four o'clock, she looked up in surprise to discover that the dawn roses were pale grey squares of light. A rose light crept into the room, and presently it was dawn. At six o'clock, she stopped work and slipped on her slippers. She had not slept for two hours and awoke at the regular time for breakfast.

SCOTT'S EMULSION will help them keep well through the winter.

10-33

SCOTT'S EMULSION RICH IN VITAMINS

herself again in the make-believe world which her imagination had created for her this day.

She had dinner, also, alone in her room. For one thing, she did not wish to face those stern, probing eyes of her foster father, yet, with this new secret in her heart, she had been different about the secret she had shared with Peter. That was her own secret. This matter concerned her better vitality, and she feared for the effect of his influence upon her work, if she saw him now. Besides, she wished to remain alone until her plan had been worked out. So she had a light dinner alone, practiced a series of calisthenics to relieve her taut muscles and resumed work.

She was amazed when the pert little clock on her desk chimed a musical midnight, and increased her work. The work had to be finished before morning. Inside the house and out, the stillness grew heavier, like the darkness. Muffled traffic sounds from the street were diminished until there was only an occasional brief wail-r-r-r of a passing automobile. A truck rumbled past. Only the little clock kept insisting that the night was passing and trying to remind her every quarter hour how late it was. Three o'clock, Camilla tottered on, steadily.

After a long interval of intense silence she was startled suddenly by the sound of a stopped motor and the soft thudding of quick footsteps in the driveway. Her heart seemed to stop beating. Her cold feet gripped her. In an instant "Thump" in the rear of the house. She relaxed, laughing slightly to herself. The milkman, of course. It was the silence and weariness and her long concentration that had caused her to be frightened so foolishly.

At four o'clock, she looked up in surprise to discover that the dawn roses were pale grey squares of light. A rose light crept into the room, and presently it was dawn. At six o'clock, she stopped work and slipped on her slippers. She had not slept for two hours and awoke at the regular time for breakfast.

SCOTT'S EMULSION will help them keep well through the winter.

10-33

SCOTT'S EMULSION RICH IN VITAMINS

herself again in the make-believe world which her imagination had created for her this day.

She had dinner, also, alone in her room. For one thing, she did not wish to face those stern, probing eyes of her foster father, yet, with this new secret in her heart, she had been different about the secret she had shared with Peter. That was her own secret. This matter concerned her better vitality, and she feared for the effect of his influence upon her work, if she saw him now. Besides, she wished to remain alone until her plan had been worked out. So she had a light dinner alone, practiced a series of calisthenics to relieve her taut muscles and resumed work.

She was amazed when the pert little clock on her desk chimed a musical midnight, and increased her work. The work had to be finished before morning. Inside the house and out, the stillness grew heavier, like the darkness. Muffled traffic sounds from the street were diminished until there was only an occasional brief wail-r-r-r of a passing automobile. A truck rumbled past. Only the little clock kept insisting that the night was passing and trying to remind her every quarter hour how late it was. Three o'clock, Camilla tottered on, steadily.

After a long interval of intense silence she was startled suddenly by the sound of a stopped motor and the soft thudding of quick footsteps in the driveway. Her heart seemed to stop beating. Her cold feet gripped her. In an instant "Thump" in the rear of the house. She relaxed, laughing slightly to herself. The milkman, of course. It was the silence and weariness and her long concentration that had caused her to be frightened so foolishly.

At four o'clock, she looked up in surprise to discover that the dawn roses were pale grey squares of light. A rose light crept into the room, and presently it was dawn. At six o'clock, she stopped work and slipped on her slippers. She had not slept for two hours and awoke at the regular time for breakfast.

Little Helps For This Week

"My presence shall go with thee, and I will give thee rest." Exodus 33:14.

"Thou wilt show me the fulness of life, in Thy presence is the path of joy, at Thy right hand there are pleasures for evermore." Psalm 16:11.

They presence fills my mind with peace,
Brightens the thought so dark
erewhile,
Bids care and sad foreboding cease,
Makes all things mellow.

How shall we rest in God? By giving ourselves wholly to Him. If you give yourself by halves you cannot find full rest; there will ever be a lurking dishel in the half which is withheld. Martyrs, confessors and saints have tried this rest, and counted themselves happy in that they endured. A countless host of God's faithful servants have drunk deeply of it under the daily burden of a weary life; dull, commonplace, painful or desolate. All that God has been to them is ready to be to you. The heart once fairly given to God with a clear conscience, a fitting rule of life, and a steadfast purpose of obedience, you will find a wonderful sense of rest coming over you.—Jean Nicholas Grou.

How shall we rest in God? By giving ourselves wholly to Him. If you give yourself by halves you cannot find full rest; there will ever be a lurking dishel in the half which is withheld. Martyrs, confessors and saints have tried this rest, and counted themselves happy in that they endured. A countless host of God's faithful servants have drunk deeply of it under the daily burden of a weary life; dull, commonplace, painful or desolate. All that God has been to them is ready to be to you. The heart once fairly given to God with a clear conscience, a fitting rule of life, and a steadfast purpose of obedience, you will find a wonderful sense of rest coming over you.—Jean Nicholas Grou.

How shall we rest in God? By giving ourselves wholly to Him. If you give yourself by halves you cannot find full rest; there will ever be a lurking dishel in the half which is withheld. Martyrs, confessors and saints have tried this rest, and counted themselves happy in that they endured. A countless host of God's faithful servants have drunk deeply of it under the daily burden of a weary life; dull, commonplace, painful or desolate. All that God has been to them is ready to be to you. The heart once fairly given to God with a clear conscience, a fitting rule of life, and a steadfast purpose of obedience, you will find a wonderful sense of rest coming over you.—Jean Nicholas Grou.

How shall we rest in God? By giving ourselves wholly to Him. If you give yourself by halves you cannot find full rest; there will ever be a lurking dishel in the half which is withheld. Martyrs, confessors and saints have tried this rest, and counted themselves happy in that they endured. A countless host of God's faithful servants have drunk deeply of it under the daily burden of a weary life; dull, commonplace, painful or desolate. All that God has been to them is ready to be to you. The heart once fairly given to God with a clear conscience, a fitting rule of life, and a steadfast purpose of obedience, you will find a wonderful sense of rest coming over you.—Jean Nicholas Grou.

How shall we rest in God? By giving ourselves wholly to Him. If you give yourself by halves you cannot find full rest; there will ever be a lurking dishel in the half which is withheld. Martyrs, confessors and saints have tried this rest, and counted themselves happy in that they endured. A countless host of God's faithful servants have drunk deeply of it under the daily burden of a weary life; dull, commonplace, painful or desolate. All that God has been to them is ready to be to you. The heart once fairly given to God with a clear conscience, a fitting rule of life, and a steadfast purpose of obedience, you will find a wonderful sense of rest coming over you.—Jean Nicholas Grou.

How shall we rest in God? By giving ourselves wholly to Him. If you give yourself by halves you cannot find full rest; there will ever be a lurking dishel in the half which is withheld. Martyrs, confessors and saints have tried this rest, and counted themselves happy in that they endured. A countless host of God's faithful servants have drunk deeply of it under the daily burden of a weary life; dull, commonplace, painful or desolate. All that God has been to them is ready to be to you. The heart once fairly given to God with a clear conscience, a fitting rule of life, and a steadfast purpose of obedience, you will find a wonderful sense of rest coming over you.—Jean Nicholas Grou.

How shall we rest in God? By giving ourselves wholly to Him. If you give yourself by halves you cannot find full rest; there will ever be a lurking dishel in the half which is withheld. Martyrs, confessors and saints have tried this rest, and counted themselves happy in that they endured. A countless host of God's faithful servants have drunk deeply of it under the daily burden of a weary life; dull, commonplace, painful or desolate. All that God has been to them is ready to be to you. The heart once fairly given to God with a clear conscience, a fitting rule of life, and a steadfast purpose of obedience, you will find a wonderful sense of rest coming over you.—Jean Nicholas Grou.

How shall we rest in God? By giving ourselves wholly to Him. If you give yourself by halves you cannot find full rest; there will ever be a lurking dishel in the half which is withheld. Martyrs, confessors and saints have tried this rest, and counted themselves happy in that they endured. A countless host of God's faithful servants have drunk deeply of it under the daily burden of a weary life; dull, commonplace, painful or desolate. All that God has been to them is ready to be to you. The heart once fairly given to God with a clear conscience, a fitting rule of life, and a steadfast purpose of obedience, you will find a wonderful sense of rest coming over you.—Jean Nicholas Grou.

How shall we rest in God? By giving ourselves wholly to Him. If you give yourself by halves you cannot find full rest; there will ever be a lurking dishel in the half which is withheld. Martyrs, confessors and saints have tried this rest, and counted themselves happy in that they endured. A countless host of God's faithful servants have drunk deeply of it under the daily burden of a weary life; dull, commonplace, painful or desolate. All that God has been to them is ready to be to you. The heart once fairly given to God with a clear conscience, a fitting rule of life, and a steadfast purpose of obedience, you will find a wonderful sense of rest coming over you.—Jean Nicholas Grou.

How shall we rest in God? By giving ourselves wholly to Him. If you give yourself by halves you cannot find full rest; there will ever be a lurking dishel in the half which is withheld. Martyrs, confessors and saints have tried this rest, and counted themselves happy in that they endured. A countless host of God's faithful servants have drunk deeply of it under the daily burden of a weary life; dull, commonplace, painful or desolate. All that God has been to them is ready to be to you. The heart once fairly given to God with a clear conscience, a fitting rule of life, and a steadfast purpose of obedience, you will find a wonderful sense of rest coming over you.—Jean Nicholas Grou.

How shall we rest in God? By giving ourselves wholly to Him. If you give yourself by halves you cannot find full rest; there will ever be a lurking dishel in the half which is withheld. Martyrs, confessors and saints have tried this rest, and counted themselves happy in that they endured. A countless host of God's faithful servants have drunk deeply of it under the daily burden of a weary life; dull, commonplace, painful or desolate. All that God has been to them is ready to be to you. The heart once fairly given to God with a clear conscience, a fitting rule of life, and a steadfast purpose of obedience, you will find a wonderful sense of rest coming over you.—Jean Nicholas Grou.

How shall we rest in God? By giving ourselves wholly to Him. If you give yourself by halves you cannot find full rest; there will ever be a lurking dishel in the half which is withheld. Martyrs, confessors and saints have tried this rest, and counted themselves happy in that they endured. A countless host of God's faithful servants have drunk deeply of it under the daily burden of a weary life; dull, commonplace, painful or desolate. All that God has been to them is ready to be to you. The heart once fairly given to God with a clear conscience, a fitting rule of life, and a steadfast purpose of obedience, you will find a wonderful sense of rest coming over you.—Jean Nicholas Grou.

How shall we rest in God? By giving ourselves wholly to Him. If you give yourself by halves you cannot find full rest; there will ever be a lurking dishel in the half which is withheld. Martyrs, confessors and saints have tried this rest, and counted themselves happy in that they endured. A countless host of God's faithful servants have drunk deeply of it under the daily burden of a weary life; dull, commonplace, painful or desolate. All that God has been to them is ready to be to you. The heart once fairly given to God with a clear conscience, a fitting rule of life, and a steadfast purpose of obedience, you will find a wonderful sense of rest coming over you.—Jean Nicholas Grou.

How shall we rest in God? By giving ourselves wholly to Him. If you give yourself by halves you cannot find full rest; there will ever be a lurking dishel in the half which is withheld. Martyrs, confessors and saints have tried this rest, and counted themselves happy in that they endured. A countless host of God's faithful servants have drunk deeply of it under the daily burden of a weary life; dull, commonplace, painful or desolate. All that God has been to them is ready to be to you. The heart once fairly given to God with a clear conscience, a fitting rule of life, and a steadfast purpose of obedience, you will find a wonderful sense of rest coming over you.—Jean Nicholas Grou.

How shall we rest in God? By giving ourselves wholly to Him. If you give yourself by halves you cannot find full rest; there will ever be a lurking dishel in the half which is withheld. Martyrs, confessors and saints have tried this rest, and counted themselves happy in that they endured. A countless host of God's faithful servants have drunk deeply of it under the daily burden of a weary life; dull, commonplace, painful or desolate. All that God has been to them is ready to be to you. The heart once fairly given to God with a clear conscience, a fitting rule of life, and a steadfast purpose of obedience, you will find a wonderful sense of rest coming over you.—Jean Nicholas Grou.

How shall we rest in God? By giving ourselves wholly to Him. If you give yourself by halves you cannot find full rest; there will ever be a lurking dishel in the half which is withheld. Martyrs, confessors and saints have tried this rest, and counted themselves happy in that they endured. A countless host of God's faithful servants have drunk deeply of it under the daily burden of a weary life; dull, commonplace, painful or desolate. All that God has been to them is ready to be to you. The heart once fairly given to God with a clear conscience, a fitting rule of life, and a steadfast purpose of obedience, you will find a wonderful sense of rest coming over you.—Jean Nicholas Grou.

How shall we rest in God? By giving ourselves wholly to Him. If you give yourself by halves you cannot find full rest; there will ever be a lurking dishel in the half which is withheld. Martyrs, confessors and saints have tried this rest, and counted themselves happy in that they endured. A countless host of God's faithful servants have drunk deeply of it under the daily burden of a weary life; dull, commonplace, painful or desolate. All that God has been to them is ready to be to you. The heart once fairly given to God with a clear conscience, a fitting rule of life, and a steadfast purpose of obedience, you will find a wonderful sense of rest coming over you.—Jean Nicholas Grou.

How shall we rest in God? By giving ourselves wholly to Him. If you give yourself by halves you cannot find full rest; there will ever be a lurking dishel in the half which is withheld. Martyrs, confessors and saints have tried this rest, and counted themselves happy in that they endured. A countless host of God's faithful servants have drunk deeply of it under the daily burden of a weary life; dull, commonplace, painful or desolate. All that God has been to them is ready to be to you. The heart once fairly given to God with a clear conscience, a fitting rule of life, and a steadfast purpose of obedience, you will find a wonderful sense of rest coming over you.—Jean Nicholas Grou.

How shall we rest in God? By giving ourselves wholly to Him. If you give yourself by halves you cannot find full rest; there will ever be a lurking dishel in the half which is withheld. Martyrs, confessors and saints have tried this rest, and counted themselves happy in that they endured. A countless host of God's faithful servants have drunk deeply of it under the daily burden of a weary life; dull, commonplace, painful or desolate. All that God has been to them is ready to be to you. The heart once fairly given to God with a clear conscience, a fitting rule of life, and a steadfast purpose of obedience, you will find a wonderful sense of rest coming over you.—Jean Nicholas Grou.

How shall we rest in God? By giving ourselves wholly to Him. If you give yourself by halves you cannot find full rest; there will ever be a lurking dishel in the half which is withheld. Martyrs, confessors and saints have tried this rest, and counted themselves happy in that they endured. A countless host of God's faithful servants have drunk deeply of it under the daily burden of a weary life; dull, commonplace, painful or desolate. All that God has been to them is ready to be to you. The heart once fairly given to God with a clear conscience, a fitting rule of life, and a steadfast purpose of obedience, you will find a wonderful sense of rest coming over you.—Jean Nicholas Grou.

How shall we rest in God? By giving ourselves wholly to Him. If you give yourself by halves you cannot find full rest; there will ever be a lurking dishel in the half which is withheld. Martyrs, confessors and saints have tried this rest, and counted themselves happy in that they endured. A countless host of God's faithful servants have drunk deeply of it under the daily burden of a weary life; dull, commonplace, painful or desolate. All that God has been to them is ready to be to you. The heart once fairly given to God with a clear conscience, a fitting rule of life, and a steadfast purpose of obedience, you will find a wonderful sense of rest coming over you.—Jean Nicholas Grou.

How shall we rest in God? By giving ourselves wholly to Him. If you give yourself by halves you cannot find full rest; there will ever be a lurking dishel in the half which is withheld. Martyrs, confessors and saints have tried this rest, and counted themselves happy in that they endured. A countless host of God's faithful servants have drunk deeply of it under the daily burden of a weary life; dull, commonplace, painful or desolate. All that God has been to them is ready to be to you. The heart once fairly given to God with a clear conscience, a fitting rule of life, and a steadfast purpose of obedience, you will find a wonderful sense of rest coming over you.—Jean Nicholas Grou.

How shall we rest in God? By giving ourselves wholly to Him. If you give yourself by halves you cannot find full rest; there will ever be a lurking dishel in the half which is withheld. Martyrs, confessors and saints have tried this rest, and counted themselves happy in that they endured. A countless host of God's faithful servants have drunk deeply of it under the daily burden of a weary life; dull, commonplace, painful or desolate. All that God has been to them is ready to be to you. The heart once fairly given to God with a clear conscience, a fitting rule of life, and a steadfast purpose of obedience, you will find a wonderful sense of rest coming over you.—Jean Nicholas Grou.

How shall we rest in God? By giving ourselves wholly to Him. If you give yourself by halves you cannot find full rest; there will ever be a lurking dishel in the half which is withheld. Martyrs, confessors and saints have tried this rest, and counted themselves happy in that they endured. A countless host of God's faithful servants have drunk deeply of it under the daily burden of a weary life; dull, commonplace, painful or desolate. All that God has been to them is ready to be to you. The heart once fairly given to God with a clear conscience, a fitting rule of life, and a steadfast purpose of obedience, you will find a wonderful sense of rest coming over you.—Jean Nicholas Grou.

How shall we rest in God? By giving ourselves wholly to Him. If you give yourself by halves you cannot find full rest; there will ever be a lurking dishel in the half which is withheld. Martyrs, confessors and saints have tried this rest, and counted themselves happy in that they endured. A countless host of God's faithful servants have drunk deeply of it under the daily burden of a weary life; dull, commonplace, painful or desolate. All that God has been to them is ready to be to you. The heart once fairly given to God with a clear conscience, a fitting rule of life, and a steadfast purpose of obedience, you will find a wonderful sense of rest coming over you.—Jean Nicholas Grou.

How shall we rest in God? By giving ourselves wholly to Him. If you give yourself by halves you cannot find full rest; there will ever be a lurking dishel in the half which is withheld. Martyrs, confessors and saints have tried this rest, and counted themselves happy in that they endured. A countless host of God's faithful servants have drunk deeply of it under the daily burden of a weary life; dull, commonplace, painful or desolate. All that God has been to them is ready to be to you. The heart once fairly given to God with a clear conscience, a fitting rule of life, and a steadfast purpose of obedience, you will find a wonderful sense of rest coming over you.—Jean Nicholas Grou.

How shall we rest in God? By giving ourselves wholly to Him. If you give yourself by halves you cannot find full rest; there will ever be a lurking dishel in the half which is withheld. Martyrs, confessors and saints have tried this rest, and counted themselves happy in that they endured. A countless host of God's faithful servants have drunk deeply of it under the daily burden of a weary life; dull, commonplace, painful or desolate. All that God has been to them is ready to be to you. The heart once fairly given to God with a clear conscience, a fitting rule of life, and a steadfast purpose of obedience, you will find a wonderful sense of rest coming over you.—Jean Nicholas Grou.

How shall we rest in God? By giving ourselves wholly to Him. If you give yourself by halves you cannot find full rest; there will ever be a lurking dishel in the half which is withheld. Martyrs, confessors and saints have tried this rest, and counted themselves happy in that they endured. A countless host of God's faithful servants have drunk deeply of it under the daily burden of a weary life; dull, commonplace, painful or desolate. All that God has been to them is ready to be to you. The heart once fairly given to God with a clear conscience, a fitting rule of life, and a steadfast purpose of obedience, you will find a wonderful sense of rest coming over you.—Jean Nicholas Grou.

How shall we rest in God? By giving ourselves wholly to Him. If you give yourself by halves you cannot find full rest; there will ever be a lurking dishel in the half which is withheld. Martyrs, confessors and saints have tried this rest, and counted themselves happy in that they endured. A countless host of God's faithful servants have drunk deeply of it under the daily burden of a weary life; dull, commonplace, painful or desolate. All that God has been to them is ready to be to

Arrowwood United Church

Rev. V. M. Gilbert, Minister
Sunday, Feb. 18
10.45 a.m., Church School
11.30 a.m. — Morning Worship
7.30 p.m. — Evening Service.

Church of the Brethren

Rev. John Weiland, Pastor
10.30 a.m. — Sunday School
11.30 a.m. — Morning Worship
7.30 p.m. — Evening Service.

MRS. E. LEWENDON

Licensed Nursing Home
Moderate Rates
ARROWWOOD - - ALTA.

It is better to have insurance and not need it, than to need it and not have it. See Omer Larsen

E. D. ARCHAMBAULT
Barber - Arrowwood
Patronize Home Industry and
Keep the Money in Our Own Town
Arrowwood Barber Shop

Clocks, Watches, Spectacles,
Sewing Machines
Typewriters and Gramophones

Cleaned and Repaired by an Expert workman with 40 years' experience in Factories, Etc.

If you are contemplating the purchase of a new watch see us before doing so.
A. ANDERSON
Jeweler - Arrowwood

Bow Valley Resource Independent.

Published every Thursday morning
at Arrowwood, Alberta.
Subscription—$2.00 a year in Canada, $2.50 in the United States.
All advertising and changes of copy must be in our hands by Wednesday noon.
Advertising rates furnished on request.

NORMAN G. CARY,
Editor and Publisher

Hoppers Not Hatching But Eggs Well Advanced

Grasshopper eggs are farther advanced towards the hatching stage this season than ever they have been, but they are not hatching yet, according to H. L. Seaman, Dominion entomologist here, who scouts stories from various parts of the Alberta infested area that young hoppers are showing in numbers.

So far as reports from various parts of the countryside that hopper eggs are already hatching are concerned, Mr. Seaman is very doubtful. He believes that the little hoppers that farmers see in some of their fields at present, and which they think are newly hatched grasshoppers, are not grasshoppers at all but leaf hoppers, not a member of the grasshopper family. They are a fly in reality.

Another report came this morning from Rockyford that millions of crickets had appeared in the fields and were devouring the hopper eggs. They are not crickets. Crickets do not live through the winter but die off as the hoppers do, the previous fall. The so-called crickets are ground beetles, and they do attack the egg pods laid by grasshoppers. Lethbridge Herald.

Milo Notes

Dean Haggins has returned home from Calgary.

Mr. and Mrs. Brinker motored to Calgary last Thursday, accompanied by their daughter, Eileen.

Mrs. Ferguson was a business visitor to Calgary last week.

Miss K. Sutton is preparing for a nursing career and will leave shortly for Lethbridge, to train in one of the local hospitals.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Gilchrist spent Sunday in Vulcan with friends.

Mr. Chas. Northcott has been in charge of the Red and White Store during Mr. Spofford's absence.

East Milo News

Last Tuesday Mr. and Mrs. Russell Smith and Mr. and Mrs. Bertrand entertained at a reception of Bridge at the Club House. The prizes were won by Miss Winnie Wainwright and Mr. Mike Monner and the consolation prizes by Mrs. J. Burk and Jack Bashell.

We are pleased to hear of the safety of the three Calgary prospectors, in the north, who have been missing from their camp since Dec. 5th. One of them, Lorne Brotherton, is a brother of Mrs. Russell Smith.

Several families of the district are installing telephones by way of the barbed wire fence. All that is necessary, besides the fence, is a loudspeaker or a headset.

Last Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. R. McBride were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. V. S. Bertrand.

The next meeting of the East Milo Juniors will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wainwright, on February 17th.

Don't forget the Juniors' program in the L.O.O.F. Hall in Milo on February 23rd, at 8 p.m. Tickets can be procured from Junior U.F.A. members or the Co-op. Store at 35c and 25c. There will be a dance after Music by the Milo Orchestra.

The Bridge party in Pioneer School on Friday was a fair success. There were eight tables. Prizes were won by Miss Violet Stumph and Wilbur Monner. Consolation prizes were won by Miss Jean Rolston and Christ. Reed. Proceeds went in aid of the Piano Fund.

Everett Winkler is back home after his holiday in Calgary.

There will be a short program in Fawcett Hill School on Friday, Feb. 16th. Everybody welcome.

The Sign of the Times

Are the people of the world actually getting anywhere? Notwithstanding the different opinions proffered and the remedies advocated by each and every organization, we still go on in a dense fog, endeavoring to feel our way out, but it appears as though we are getting into a worse tangle.

There has been millions of doctors, but only a very few great physicians and for these few, who were really out to do the work and the people in it a great service, it has always been surprising how long it has taken before they were really accepted.

It seems as though the ages the masses of the people have not reached, and really enjoyed being hoodwinked, refusing at all times to accept anything that is real. If there is room for doubt or superstition, they really think it suits them better. Is this created by a primitive instinct, whereby we all hope to get an advantage over our fellow man by being a trifle smarter than he. So, at some time, we come out on top, with the poor ignorant being, whom we should all respect, remaining subservient and at our service at all times, irrespective of how he eats, or where he sleeps.

Douglas, today, offers us the solution to our economic landslide. Will we accept it, or do we still want to go on playing politics? There is no doubt but that his diagnosis is correct. Furthermore, he has gone into the disease which ails us, very thoroughly. Then why should his remedy not be accepted? Why wait fifty or a hundred years, as has always been the case in the past, before at last giving it a thorough test. The only reason I know why the people are not enthused over the proposition of Major Douglas is that it is too simple —remedying all our ailments at one sweep. This, apparently, is impossible to so many minds. They will fall for anything difficult which they cannot understand, such as a new form of government (of which we already have too much) and propaganda by the old parties, whereas Douglas advocates only touching our money, or credit system, which automatically adjusts every ill that we are suffering from and will prevent the mismanagement of our party government by allowing the big interests to get complete control.

To prove that this is the source of all our trouble we have only to look at the countries suffering from the depression. The first thing they start on to straighten out the troubles is their money system, and this in a most erratic way, whereas Douglas has made it a life study, actually seeing this condition coming, long before many of our statesmen ever dreamt there was anything wrong.

There should be no argument as to whether he is right or not, as the man who can make a correct diagnosis, should be able to prescribe the cure.

R. H. ANDERSON,
Arrowwood, Alta.

LOST

Lost—Two Peerless silver forks, during December, at the Community card party, in the Ingraham Building. Finder please leave them at Clifford's store.

Arrowwood Market Prices

Wheat
1 Northern	46½
2 Northern	41
3 Northern	39½
Oats
2 C.W.	21
Barley
3 C.W.	26
Flax
1 C.W.	1.26½

Calgary Quotations on Livestock

Steers—
Good and choice	$3.25
Heifers—
Good and choice	3.00 - 3.75
Cows—
Good	2.00 - 2.25
Sheep—
Yearlings	1.75 - 3.25
Hogs—
Select bacon	8.40
Bacon	8.00
Butchers	7.60

Perfect ingredients and perfect care in brewing contribute to the excellence of Alberta Beers

Served at Clubs and Hotels of Repute

DISTRIBUTORS LIMITED

AGENTS FOR THE BREWING INDUSTRY OF ALBERTA

PHONE 32

BASSANO

"BEER PERMITS"

Government Permits for the purchase of "Beer Only" and good for one year may be obtained at any Vendor's Store. Price One Dollar

This Advertisement is Not Inserted by the Alberta Liquor Control Board, or by the Government of the Province of Alberta.

- O-K -

RUBBER STAMPS

PROMPT SERVICE

BOW VALLEY RESOURCE

In Winter as in Summer

For more than a quarter of a century United Grain Growers has been serving the farmers of western Canada. "From your own experience and that of your neighbors you know it is to be depended on when you market your grain.

If you wish to buy Government Tested Registered or Certified Seed U.G.G. agents or offices will put you in touch with reliable sources.

UNITED GRAIN GROWERS LTD

Elevators at Arrowwood, Milo, Queenstown, Mossleigh and Shouldice.

Counter Sales Book Prices Have Been Reduced

We can supply you with any size, or style of counter sales book in any quantity

Resource Office Arrowwood

WAGIN' TUNG

Vol. 3, No. 26 Arrowwood, Feb. 15, 1934 Items for Thought

Soft Ball

The fine weather is bringing out the local enthusiasts of this popular sport and there is no reason why one or more teams could not be gotten up and games arranged with other towns of this district, and play a series of games.

We have several makes of second hand tractors that you may be interested in, when you are preparing for spring work.

In car batteries we can supply you with a low priced one or the more dependable fifteen-pint, heavy duty type.

One of the largest concerns manufacturing cars makes Firestone Tires standard equipment—enough said. We carry this popular brand in all sizes, including truck tires.

Autolene Oils—"The life-saver of your motor." We have it in any weight or quantity.

*****

"The worst," said Mr. Smith, dismally, "has happened."

"No," cried Mrs. Smith, aghast.

"Yes," replied Mr. Smith. "This afternoon, just before quitting time, the boss called me in and gave me the business."

Good Equipment Makes a Good Farmer Better

Larsen Implements

"House of Service"

ARROWWOOD and MOSSLEIGH